

Bangkok at Night by Tuk Tuk: Diethelm Standard (Half-Day: Evening)

Tour details

Bangkok is famous for its incredible street food, buzzing nightlife and iconic three-wheeled tuk tuks...so we've combined all three on our special evening excursion, which is ideal for couples or families!

Your night begins by travelling from your hotel by tuk tuk to Chinatown. Arrive just as the sun sets to experience the bright lights of Yaowarat Road and the Odeon Circle. Off the main street are a series of narrow alleys that offer great insight into how the Chinese community here has preserved their cultural traditions for over two centuries. The neighbourhood was once renowned for being a dense warren of opium dens, gambling joints and brothels, but today it's the great food, fabric and gold that lures people to this area.

Tonight, you will taste at least seven different local Thai and Chinese dishes from different street food vendors. The dishes always vary but may include satay (grilled meat with a peanut sauce), sala pow (steamed buns stuffed with meat or vegetables), khao mun gai (Hainanese-style chicken rice) bamee moo daeng (thin egg noodles with slices of red pork), khao niaow mamuang (mango sticky rice) and bua loy nam khing (rice dough balls filled with sesame paste in hot ginger tea).

After eating the incredible food, jump back into your tuk tuk and head to Thatien Pier for a short photo stop of Wat Arun. Next, pass through Pak Klong Talad Market, best visited at night when there are fresh deliveries of flowers, fruit and spices. Back in the tuk tuk, drive through Rattanakosin, the original area of Bangkok from over 200 years ago. You will see magnificent temples and architectural buildings, like the Grand Palace, Wat Pho and Democracy Monument. Stop at The Press Sky Bar to enjoy a drink on their roof. While not the highest bar in Bangkok, it offers a wonderful panoramic view from the 6th floor. Relax on the comfy sofas before being dropped off back at your hotel.
